

VEP Room

The virtual education room is a classroom. As such, classroom expectations apply. Due to the unique nature of the courses students are taking, there are a few extra expectations.

1. Cell phone policy applies- please leave your cell phone in your locker. You can access it during breaks in the hallway.
2. Students must log in to their synchronous classes daily.
3. Students must wear headphones and keep the volume to a reasonable level.
4. During synchronous online classes, the computer camera must remain on.
5. Beverages in covered containers only - no energy drinks.
6. Food is not permitted at this time. Students may eat during breaks, in the hallway or during lunch time in the cafeteria.
7. When students are leaving the VEP room to gather materials, or pick up printing, or to use the washroom- they must inform their supervisor as to where they are going. Entering and exiting the classroom should be done in such a way that other students are not disrupted from their learning.
8. Students working together on a project or in a small group (not during synchronous instruction time) should use one of the round tables away from the main computer tables. This will assist in not disturbing those students who are in synchronous learning.

Success Block/Flex

The actual purpose of success block is for students to engage in their academic learning. Get help when needed, complete homework assignments or work on additional asynchronous courses. Success block is not “free time” but rather semi-structured time. This means that students can make choices about which courses they work on or need to prioritize. For the month of September, students will be accessing a course taught by Mrs. Daniel regarding time management, digital citizenship, study skills and self-advocacy. Once students have demonstrated an ability to make wise decisions regarding their time management- then students will have freedom to choose their activities. This will not be gym time. Students will have the opportunity to sign up for PE in either semester during D Block.
